IN BRIEF
Patkar discharged from hospital

Bhopal: Social activist Medha Patkar was on Wednesday discharged from the hospital in Indore in Madhya Pradesh. The Narmada Bachao Andolan (NBA) chief was forcibly admitted in the specialised private hospital by the police on August 7 after her health deteriorated following her indefinite fast launched on July 27, demanding rehabilitation of people facing displacement due to the Sardar Sarovar Dam project. Ms Patkar, however, said she was not broken her fast and would continue her hunger strike till her demands were fulfilled. "I was virtually imprisoned in the hospital as police denied my well wishers to visit me in the hospital," she said.

political and ideological mentor, has been accused of not playing any role in the freedom struggle.

Ms Gandhi's remarks evoked a sharp response from first-time MP from Chandigarh, Kirron Kher, who could be heard shouting, "Sad, travesty of Parliament."

Congress MPs shouted her down, and even BJP members were seen asking her not to speak when Prime Minister Narendra Modi was present in the House.

The Congress chief used her speech in Lok Sabha to underline the contributions of the Congress and Jawaharlal Nehru to the landmark episode in India's struggle for independence and also attacked the ruling BJP, accused by her party of communalism.

"We will not allow the idea of India to be a prisoner to narrow mindedness and communal ideology. Today it looks like secularism and free speech are in danger. If we have to preserve freedom, we'll have to defeat forces endangering it. We can't and we won't allow sectarian forces to succeed," she said.

AI plane lands in Tehran due to tech glitch

In another incident, Ethiopian plane clipped wings of an Air India aircraft

AGE CORRESPONDENT
NEW DELHI, AUG. 9

It was a day of unforeseen circumstances for the national carrier, Air India. An Air India flight, flying in from German city of Frankfurt and heading for New Delhi, made a precautionary landing enroute at the Iranian capital, Tehran, following a technical glitch.

The aircraft that faced technical issue was a Boeing 787 Dreamliner. Notably, Air India has had technical problems with its Dreamliner fleet in the past too. The national carrier despatched a Boeing 747 Jumbo Jet as a replacement aircraft to fly the passengers to Delhi. It also had engineers on board.

In the second incident, the wing of a parked Ethiopian airline aircraft that was being "pushed back" at the New Delhi IGI airport near T3 terminal collided with a wing of a parked Air India aircraft. About the first incident, an Air India official said, "AI 120 flight Frankfurt-Delhi made a precautionary landing in Tehran due to technical reasons at 6.20 am local time. All the 249 passengers were transferred to a hotel there. The grounded flight is a 787 (Dreamliner). A relief flight, i.e. 747 aircraft, departed from Mumbai to Tehran. A team of engineers and other technical staff also boarded the relief flight. The relief flight will return to New Delhi with all passengers while engineers and other technical staff will come back to Mumbai after maintenance work on the grounded aircraft."

About the second incident, an AI official said that at the New Delhi airport, near T-3 terminal, "an Ethiopian airline aircraft and an Air India aircraft" were parked and that "around 2 am" the Ethiopian aircraft "pushed back". The Air India official added, "During the push-back, the right wing of the Ethiopian aircraft hit the left wing of Air India aircraft."

The Air India plane has been grounded temporarily and the national carrier will be claiming damages from the Ethiopian airlines. The Ethiopian airlines issued a statement, saying, "On August 9, 2017, our B-767 aircraft, registration number ET-AMG, preparing for a regular Delhi-Addis Ababa bound flight, number ET687, had a minor ground incident of wing tip collision with Air India A320 aircraft during push-back at the IGI Airport.

Jawan held for sexual assault on schoolgirls

Hunt on to arrest another absconding CRPF jawan

RABINDRA NATH CHOUHURY
BHOPAL, AUG. 9

A CRPF jawan was on Wednesday arrested on the charges of molesting tribal schoolgirls during a cultural programme that was held recently in Palnar village under Chhattisgarh's south Bastar district of Dantewada.

The co-accused in the case is absconding, the Bastar police has said.

While one of the accused, Shamim Ahmed, has been arrested, the other accused, Neeraj Pondawal, fled to Uttarakhand after the incident, the police said.

The accused allegedly molested schoolgirls during a cultural event on Raksha Bandhan in Palnar village under south Bastar district of Dantewada

Both were from 221 battalion of the Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF). The incident occurred when the students of the Palnar tribal girls' school had organised a cultural programme to tie the sacred thread to the CRPF jawans, invited for the occasion, on Raksha Bandhan on August 7.

The two accused allegedly barged into the bathroom of the school, and molested some girls. The police sprang into action when 20 students of the school lodged a complaint, alleging their molestation by the two accused. Later, the victims were shown the pictures of all the jawans who attended the programme. They identified the two from their photographs, according to the CRPF inspector general, Raipur, D.S. Chouhan.

"We handed over one of the accused to the police after he was identified by the victims, and have launched a manhunt to arrest the other one," Mr Chouhan said.

Mulayam axes 4 of son's loyalists from Lohia trust

AGE CORRESPONDENT
LUCKNOW, AUG. 9

A war of trusts has begun in the Samajwadi Party and the Yadav family. Mulayam Singh Yadav, who heads the Lohia trust, has replaced four Akhilesh loyalists from the 12-member governing body. Sources said that the move was being seen as a precursor to Shivpal Singh Yadav being given total control over the Lohia trust.

The four members who were removed from the trust board include Ram Govind Chaudhary, Ahmed Hasan, Usha Verma and Alok Shakya. All four were initially close to Mulayam Singh Yadav but later parted ways and joined the Akhilesh faction when the battle for control over the party began in January.

The Shivpal loyalists who have now been appointed as members of the board of the Lohia trust include Deepak Misra, Ram Naresh Yadav, Ram Sewak Yadav and Rajesh Yadav.

Deepak Misra was the SP spokesperson till he resigned from the post and remained with Shivpal Yadav after Akhilesh sacked him from the Cabinet, last year. The remaining three new members of the trust are known Mulayam supporters and have stood by Shivpal during the family feud within the Yadav clan. Interestingly,

Mulayam Singh Yadav

All four were close to Mulayam but later parted ways and joined the Akhilesh faction when the battle for control over the party began in Jan

Akhilesh Yadav and Ram Gopal Yadav, both of whom are also members in the governing body of the Lohia trust, did not attend the meeting on Tuesday.

Talking to this correspondent on Wednesday, Shivpal Yadav downplayed the absence of these leaders from the meeting. "They must have been busy but I am sure they will come for the next meeting which will be held soon. The information for this meeting was sent to them," he said.

After these changes, the Mulayam faction now has complete control over the Lohia trust while the Akhilesh faction rules over the Janeshwar Misra trust that was set up a year ago.

TAKE VOW TO END POVERTY BY 2022, SAYS PM MODI

menace of corruption has adversely impacted the development of the country and has eaten the polity from the inside.

Corruption, poverty, illiteracy and malnutrition are the greatest challenges that India now needs to overcome and a common resolve is needed for this, he said, adding, "In 1942, the clarion call was 'Karene ya Mareng' (Do or Die) — today it is 'Karene aur kar ke rahenge.' The next five years should also be about 'Sankalp Se Siddhi', a resolve which will lead us to accomplishment."

He said from 1857 to 1942, the move towards freedom was incremental, but the years from 1942 to 1947, were transformative and delivered on the objective.

He urged MPs to rise above differences and join in a common effort to create an India of the dreams of our freedom fighters. The Prime Minister recalled the role of women during the freedom struggle, and said that they can add immense strength to the common objectives even today.

Mr Modi recalled that when senior leaders like Mahatma Gandhi were jailed at the beginning of the Quit India Movement, a new generation of leaders emerged to fill the vacuum and take the movement forward.

Marital rape not penal offence: SC

New Delhi, Aug. 9: The raging issue whether to make forced marital intercourse and sexual acts part of offence of rape in penal law has been extensively debated and now it can't be considered as a criminal act, the Supreme Court said on Wednesday.

Section 375 of the Indian Penal Code (IPC), which defines the offence of rape, has an exception clause that says the intercourse or sexual act by a man with his wife, not below 15 years, is not a rape. The apex court, however, sought to know as to whether Parliament debated the aspect of protecting married girls, between the age group of 15-18 years, from the forced sexual acts by their

The SC said that issue whether to make forced marital intercourse part of offence of rape has been extensively debated and now it can't be considered as a criminal act spouses. It also asked whether the court could intervene to protect the rights of such married girls who may be sexually exploited by their spouses.

"Parliament has extensively debated the issue of marital rape and considered that it was not an offence of rape. Therefore, it cannot be considered as a criminal offence," a bench of justices M.B. Lokur and Deepak Gupta said. The apex court also said that marriage of a girl, who is below the age of 15 years, was "illegal".

"There are cases when college-going teens, below 18 years of age, engage in sexual activities consensually and get booked under the law. Who is going to suffer? The boy is not at fault. The punishment of seven years is too harsh," the bench observed. It said, similarly, problem arises when a girl, under 18 years of age, elopes and engages in consensual sexual activity, the male gets booked for rape. "In these cases, we do have problem if look at various aspects," the bench said as it asked the Centre to apprise it about the number of prosecutions under the Child Marriage Act for past three years in three weeks. It also asked the Centre to apprise it about appointment of the Child Marriage Prohibition Officers in the country and posted the matter for hearing after four weeks.

The bench was hearing a plea questioning the constitutionality of a provision permitting a man to have physical relationship with his wife even if she is aged between 15 and 18.

It said as per the prevailing law, if a man has physical intercourse with a girl under 15 years of age, it is termed as rape irrespective of "consent or no consent" and if she is below 18 years of age, but more than 15 and married, then no offence of rape is made out. — PTI

2 more SP MLCs quit, more in line

Lucknow, Aug. 9: Two more Samajwadi Party MLCs resigned from Vidhan Parishad on Wednesday, taking the tally of party MLCs who have resigned to five.

SP MLC Ashok Bajpai resigned from Vidhan Parishad on Wednesday. Ambica Chaudhary, who joined the BSP on the eve of the Assembly polls but technically continued as SP MLC in Vidhan Parishad, also resigned on Wednesday.

Three SP MLCs, who resigned in the past 10 days, have already joined the BJP and Mr Bajpai is also expected to follow suit.

Implement Food Security Act: SC

Mr Bhushan had pointed out that states had not filled up the Food Security Commissions as provided under the Food Security Act and wages are not being paid to workers on time.

The AG told the bench that the government was doing its best to fill the gaps in the system and "miracles can't be achieved overnight."

He said, "It is easy to find fault, but the number of workers involved are eight to ten crore and payments have to reach 84,000 bank branches, which are mostly in rural areas. Many branches did not have Internet facility and therefore payments are being made through post offices. We are monitoring it on a day-to-day basis... Such an enormous task needs time. Governance is not that easy as we have 100 various other tasks on hand. India is progressing. Have faith in us (government), give us six months time to implement the scheme fully."

Justice Lokur conceded that the government had been doing good work in this regard. He said, "We are not asking for miracles. We only point out that there are deficiencies."

In May last, the Supreme Court ordered state governments not to hide behind the "smokescreen of lack of funds" and provide wide-ranging relief for the drought-affected people in 12 states and to implement the national Food Security Act in all states.

In May last, the Supreme Court ordered state governments not to hide behind the 'smokescreen of lack of funds' and provide wide-ranging relief for the drought-affected people in 12 states

The directions issued by the court included mid-day meals during summer vacation, addition of egg or milk to the mid-day meal menu, universalisation of food-grain ration, adequate and timely release of funds for MNREGA and implementation of crop loss compensation, agricultural loan restructuring and provision for cattle fodder.

The court had laid down new principles for declaration of drought. It expressed surprise that implementation of a law enacted by Parliament, the NFS Act, had been left to the whims and fancies of state governments, and that it has taken Gujarat more than two years to implement it while Uttar Pradesh has implemented it partially.

"This is rather strange. A state government, by delaying implementation of a law passed by the Parliament and assented to by the President of India, is effectively refusing to implement it and Parliament is left a mute spectator," the bench said.

7L Marathas push for quota

The MLAs from Congress and Nationalist Congress Party bowed before the Shivaji statue in the premises and went to participate in the rally wearing saffron turbans, caps. Even Shiv Sena MLAs shouted slogans for the reservation. Some residents of Kopardi village in Ahmednagar district, where the brutal rape and murder in July 2016 of a 14-year-old girl belonging to the community triggered massive protests across the state, also participated in today's morcha.

A delegation of Maratha leaders met the CM in the legislature with their demands — justice for Kopardi rape victim and reservation in educational institutes and government jobs. The CM said that in five months, a special court took statements of 31 witnesses in the Kopardi rape case. "The lawyer of the accused tried to delay the case. He was fined ₹19,000 and ₹2,000 by the court. They wanted to cross-examine more witnesses but the matter went to the high court. The HC allowed them to cross-examine only one witness. Now the matter has reached its last phase," Mr Fadnis said.

The CM said that for Maratha students, the state has extended scope of the Chhatrapati Shahu Maharaj scholarship scheme meant for 35 courses to 605 courses. "Earlier, students with 60 per cent marks were admitted for the courses, which has been reduced to 50 per cent now," he said.

Talking about some of the policies, the CM said that in the Annasaheb Patil Arthik Vikas Mahamandal, three lakh children of farmers would get skill development training. Also, loans upto ₹10 lakh would be given to them with lower interest rates. The government said that every district will have a hostel for Maratha students for which it will give ₹5 crore. The government also assured that it would speed up the process of issuing caste certificates.

However, Opposition termed the announcements as false and walked out of the house. NCP leader Ajit Pawar said "No one is satisfied with the government's stand on reservation."

Bollywood actor Riteish Deshmukh also voiced his support to the protest march with a late night tweet. "Ek Maratha, Lakh Maratha", the actor twweeted in Marathi, referring to a popular slogan.

Barala's son held in stalking case handle, he left his press conference in a huff, feigning a phone call from his son.

Varnika Kundu, a 29-year-old DJ, and daughter of IAS officer Virender Kundu, has alleged that Vikas and Ashish followed her when she was driving back home last Friday. She has said that they blocked her way, banged on her car window and tried to force her door open. In a Facebook post she shared, she wrote, "I feel lucky, because I'm not lying raped and murdered in a ditch somewhere."

On Tuesday, breaking his silence on the case that involves his son, Shubash Barala said, "Varinka is like my daughter". After Vikas Barala and his friend were let off within hours of their arrest, because the charges against them — stalking and drunken driving — were bailable, there were accusations that Chandigarh police was under political pressure.

The police said that the tougher kidnapping charge was not applied because Varnika Kundu had not referred to it in her statement before the magistrate.
